Comments:

November 1st dawned bright and clear, and over 400 people entered our event. What more could one ask? In fact, we were so overwhelmed by our popularity that our provisional results service broke down under the strain. Please accept our apologies.

As some of you will know, the National Badge Scheme has just been revised. All classes are now eligible for gold medals. Full details should appear in the next edition of "The Orienteer".

A particular problem in compiling these results has been the number of people (particularly on the shorter courses) who don't put their class on their control cards. This may mean that you haven't been given a position within your class, or that you haven't been counted as a team member. So, please, do remember to give all the requested information next time you go orienteering.

Finally, we thank the Forestry Commission for the use of their beautiful land. Perhaps you didn't notice the beauty - either because you were moving too fast, or because you had other things on your mind.
