SOC BADGE EVENT - NOVEMBER CLASSIC

6th November

Organiser's Comments

First "Thank you" to all those competitors who were in any way inconvenienced by such faults in the set-up as there were and who, nevertheless, put with with them in good spirit. It was also kind of many of you to cheer us up by your favourable comments. The compliments belong to all those club members who worked so hard at their various jobs.

Since I hope to write something about the set-up for the Orienteer so that the lessons that the club learnt are more widely known, let me just note that this year's total beat last year's record of 1100. It is also interesting that in a sport in which forward planning is essential for personal success many pre-entries were received rather late: 66% of pre-entries arrived in the last week and 50% during the last three days.

Lubor Velecky

Controller's Comments

Almost the first question I was asked about the area was "What do you think about the stream?". I looked at it, leapt across, observed many stoney shallows and concluded that I wasn't over-much worried. The mappers thought about showing crossing-places but found there were so many that it was confusing and unnecessary. Then it rained, it rained much of Saturday, the stream was up a bit; it rained Saturday night and by Sunday conditions were dodgy to say the least! So, follow Jennie Thompson's example, if its too deep to paddle, SWIM!

Map corrections. None. Map perfect? Of course not! A debate ensued. Should there be corrections for all errors even when they don't directly involve controls? There were only minor mistakes, nothing grossly misleading and we decided to ignore these and have no corrections. Would you agree? - comments (constructive) welcome.

A large area - a new map - a team of mappers. As anyone involved in this kind of map-making exercise knows using a number of mappers creates difficulties especially in keeping a timetable and in quality control (keep an even standard). The perceptive orienteer will have noticed some differences in style over the map which, given more time, could have been evened out. But a good map. Our profound thanks for the enormous effort to date, and we look forward to the second edition.

On behalf of all who took part, and myself, thanks to the whole organising team of SOC. The competitors will appreciate that someone worked hard since it all went off pretty smoothly. As I found on working closely with them the smoothness was the result of much care, much forethought and good club team-work.

Peter Warner

Planner's Comments

Your map was the product of many hours patient surveying by a largely novice team. The final polish was accomplished in an almost non-stop September session by Alex Finch, Richard Jeans, Tim Holt, Gerry Barrell and Lubor Velecky. The numerous additions, corrections and major resurveys were accepted with remarkable calm by the drawing team of Charles and Janet Richardson.

Basketts Lawn is flat and runnable with many vegetation changes. My object was to get you lost on the long legs by using the rapidly changing scenery and confuse you on the short legs by grouping controls in blocks of interesting forest. If you found yourself running from flag to flag or standing on the open heath taking back bearings on Lyndhurst Church, then you were one of my successes!

The separation of seniors from juniors and the use of par times worked well. The majority of par times were accurate to within five minutes. For W15 I have no explanation. My apologies to W43 and W50. I knew you liked good orienteering and this was only to be had in the natural forest, which meant a length of 3.5K+. Was it too hard or too long? W19B and M21B - I think that the winners were unfair to the other competitors. The glory seekers with gold standards should have the courage to mark their cards "non-competitive", so that the lesser mortals can get their hard earned bronze standard.

The heavy overnight rain helped by lowering the bracken and knocking the leaves off the trees. Some controls (in my estimation) shone like beacons on the Sunday morning check. Unfortunately the river rose; there were many crossing points - bridges, fords, fallen trees but it was too late to mark them on the ground or the map. One competitor was heard to remark, "I ran up and down until I found a still piece and then I jumped in!" - Still waters run

The final details were detailed! Many people obviously did not read them nor did parents or group leaders explain the important points to juniors.

A final thank you to Peter Warner - Sunday was his first day in the forest without rain! - and to ROC, TVOC and BMOC for the loan of equipment.
